October 25th was CancerQuest's 14th birthday!

14 yrs ago, our website was launched - with the mission of empowering patients and saving lives. We are still at it, currently creating two new Chinese versions and expanding our content.

YOU might just be able to help, or even save someone, by sharing this with your family and friends, letting them know about the reliable information found on the CancerQuest website and Facebook page.

Even if it helps just 1 person, it will be worth it! Go ahead...share the love.

Thanks for your help and support.
